

Early Breast Cancer: Making the Difficult Choices

13 March, 2009 / 18.00 – 19.30
St Gallen, Olma Messen - Main Auditorium

11th International Conference
Primary Therapy of Early Breast Cancer
St. Gallen, 11-14 March 2009

Co-chairs:

Cliff Hudis, MD

Martine Piccart-Gebhart, MD, PhD

Early Breast Cancer: Making the Difficult Choices

March 13, 2009 / 18.00 - 19.30 / Main Auditorium

| | | |
|--------------------|--|--|
| 18.00-18.05 | Welcome and Introduction | Cliff Hudis, MD Martine Piccart-Gebhart, MD, PhD Jose Baselga, MD |
| 18.00-18.05 | Triple Negative Early Breast Cancer: Is There An Optimal Adjuvant Treatment Strategy? | |
| 18.05-18.15 | Discussion with Faculty | |
| 18.15-18.20 | Taxanes: Are They an Essential Component of Adjuvant Therapy for All Patients Who Are Chemotherapy Candidates? | Angelo Di Leo, MD |
| 18.20-18.30 | Discussion with Faculty | |
| 18.30-18.35 | Adjuvant Endocrine Therapy for Postmenopausal Breast Cancer: Does One Strategy Fit All? | Monica Castiglione, MD |
| 18.35-18.45 | Discussion with Faculty | |
| 18.45-18.50 | Should Gene Array Profiles Be Routinely Used Or Are Standard Prognostic Factors Adequate? | George Sledge, MD |
| 18.50-19.00 | Discussion with Faculty | |
| 19.00-19.05 | Should Bisphosphonates Now Be Considered as a Component of Adjuvant Therapy for Early Breast Cancer? | Adam Brufsky, MD |
| 19.05-19.15 | Discussion with Faculty | |
| 19.15-19.20 | Is There a Patient Profile Where Adjuvant Trastuzumab is Not Required Despite HER-2 Overexpression? | David Cameron, MD |
| 19.20-19.30 | Discussion with Faculty Concluding Remarks | Cliff Hudis, MD Martine Piccart-Gebhart, MD, PhD |

st.galleroncology
conferences

FACULTY

Co-chairs

Cliff Hudis, MD
Martine Piccart-Gebhart, MD, PhD

Speakers

Adam Brufsky, MD
George Sledge, MD
Monica Castiglione, MD
Angelo Di Leo, MD, PhD
Jose Baselga, MD
David Cameron, MD

www.primeoncology.org
info@primeeurope.org

Support for this program has been provided by an educational grant from Amgen, Genomic Health, Novartis Oncology, sanofi-aventis